Trilingual Inscription
Finds from the Ancient City of Letoon

Statute of Standing Girl Holding Birds
Roman Period

Fethiye was established on the top of Telmessos which is located at the very west of the ancient Lycian Region. The first efforts for a museum in Fethiye started with collecting the works from the vicinity of the restructured city after the earthquake of 1957, and the museum was opened to visitors in 1987.

Ceramics take an important place among the artifacts exhibited in the Museum. The works belonging to the period between 3000 BC and Late Ottoman are on display in chronological order. Besides, it is possible to see unique pieces, such as Trilingual Inscription (Lycian, Greek, and Aramaic), Izraza Monument, and Bilingual Inscription (Carian, Greek) and works of the Lycian region, such as votive to God-Hero Kakasbos
